Rhetoric in Haiku

Dr. Susumu Kubo, Matsuyama University

It is common knowledge that a haiku poem with 5-7-5 syllabic structure makes good use of rhetoric, including simile, metaphor, personification, allegory, synecdoche, metonymy and allusion. This talk demonstrates how haiku poets intentionally or unintentionally use or exploit rhetoric in their haiku to express what they experience in the real world whenever they believe that literal compositions of haiku without rhetoric are inadequate. The mechanism of poetic acts of rhetoric will be explained with foregrounding and backgrounding in the theory of Regulation Augmented Speech Act Theory. This talk will help you understand how Japanese students verbalize the world around them in your teaching in Japan.

Video helps bridge cultural gaps

In order to give Ehime residents a perspective on the kinds of things that foreign residents may have difficulty with living here, eight Ehime University international students and two Japanese students worked together to create a video. There are six sections each dealing with issues that many foreign residents have encountered. The entire video is about ten minutes long.

Here is the English version on YouTube: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CWqhw4_9sLs
